

LOCATED in Northwestern Alabama, on the Tennessee River a Few Miles From the Tennessee State Line, It Has Cost the Government About $105,000,000—Nitrate and Hydro-Electric Plants as a War Measure—The Great Wilson Dam, About 30 Per Cent Completed—Towns in Vicinity Are Having Big Real Estate Boom—Rich Phosphate Deposits in Tennessee Are Nearby, While There Are Great Coal and Iron Mines in the Vicinity—Engineers Claim 1,000,000 Horsepower Can Be Developed With Fall of 135 Feet in Thirty-five Miles of Tennessee River.

WILSON DAM, OR DAM NO. 2, AT MUSCLE SHOALS, ON THE TENNESSEE RIVER.

Muscle Shoals is in the northwestern part of Alabama, within a few miles of the Tennessee line. It is roughly midway between Birmingham, Ala., and Nashville, Tenn. It is on the Tennessee river, which is navigable for 652 miles of its length. But 400 miles of the upper Tennessee is now cut off from navigation because the river is obstructed by the Wilson dam at Muscle Shoals.

Muscle Shoals is not a town. There are three towns near this place in the river called Muscle Shoals—namely, Florence, Sheffield and Tusculum; total population about 15,000. As is always the case, these towns anticipate the great improvements at Muscle Shoals and real estate boomers and speculators are there to tell you how to make millions by buying real estate. Prices are said to be soaring and unreasonable. No doubt, however, a big town will develop in time if the Muscle Shoals project does not die.

What Can Be Done
A special committee of the Mississippi Valley Association made the following report under date of May 28, 1921, before Henry Ford and others made their offer:

"1. That two (2) nitrate plants of large capacity, well built at great expense, and required for national defense are standing idle."
"2. That these plants can be made a profitable investment and a benefit to agriculture if cheap power were available."

"3. That this cheap power can be furnished only by the dam, now awaiting completion."

"4. That in its present condition the dam completely blocks navigation on the Tennessee river at this point."

"5. That the work done to date has been well done, but will certainly be damaged or abandoned in its present condition."

"6. That additional delay means only a constantly increasing loss to the government."

"7. That a relatively small additional cost will bring to fruition a great enterprise, and add an important factor to the development of our country."

Completion a Big Factor
"8. That the completion of this enterprise is one of the most important factors before us at this time and in accord with the declaration of principles of our association, which calls for the development of agriculture, of industry, of finance, and of transportation."

"We therefore recommend:"

"(1) The immediate appropriation of $10,000,000 to enable the construction of the dam to be resumed."

"(2) In view of the fact that the government cannot transfer its right to manufacture nitrate by the expropriation process to others than the patentee, a government-controlled corporation or corporations should be established to operate both the hydro-electric power and the nitrate plants, preference being given to agriculture, but always reserving the right to resume control and operation in event of war."

Frank Letters
The War Department has received many irresponsible and frank letters since this Muscle Shoals agitation started. One individual wrote the government that if it would pay him $1,000,000 a year in advance for five years he would put the dams and nitrate plants in "apple pie" order.

Mr. Ford has received several hundred letters with propositions. One man wrote him that he had discovered a process for making nitrate out of which he would guarantee that $1,000,000 a year could be made. "But," said he, "I will sell you the right for $50,000 cash."

A summary of Henry Ford's proposition to the government follows: The government must complete the Wilson dam as speedily as possible and install hydro-electric facilities and equipment for generating 600,000 horsepower, then Mr. Ford's company will agree to lease the dam, power plant and all property connected with them for 100 years. The company will pay to the United States 6 per cent on the remaining cost of locks, the dam and power house taken at $20,000,000 in payments of $1,500,000, except during the first six years of the lease period payments shall begin and be made annually as follows: $200,000 one year from date, and thereafter $200,000 annually at the end of each year for the period of five years.

Mr. Ford's Plan
After the first six years payment of $1,200,000 shall be made annually at the end of each calendar year, during the lease period. The company will also pay the government $35,000 a year for repairs, maintenance and operation of the dam, locks and locks at Wilson dam for the 100 years. It will also pay a sinking fund of $35,337 a year for ninety-four years, the sinking fund investments to bear the highest rate of interest obtainable, but not less than 4 per cent per annum.

Mr. Ford also agrees to buy nitrate plant No. 2 for $5,000,000. In order that the farmers may have the fertilizer produced without paying excessive profits he guarantees that his net profits shall not exceed more than 8 per cent. He proposes that farmers' organizations shall have representatives (two) on the board with two representatives of the company. In a word, they are to make it that no more than a 5 per cent profit is made. Mr. Ford being a quantity production man, his friends believe that he will manufacture fertilizer from the unlimited phosphate deposits in Tennessee.

Orfordville

(By Gazette Correspondent.)

Orfordville—The fire department was called out Wednesday night to extinguish a burning chimney on the village hall. They had scarcely reached the apparatus when word was received that an overheated furnace was threatening the J. T. Smiler home in the town of Plymouth, two miles east of the village. A number of the firemen and some of the smaller extinguishers were loaded on auto trucks and a quick run was made. The fire was soon under control. Some damage was done by the water. Workmen from the Janesville Electric company were in the village Thursday installing switches and other apparatus at the local plant preparatory to making connection when the line is completed. Several car loads of tobacco were received at the local siding on Thursday. The purchase had been made by L. R. Myhre. Ray Edwards has rented the Charles Sheele farm on the Hanover road in the town of Plymouth and will move within the next few days. Mr. Sheele and family expect to move to the village if a house can be found.

—A. S. Gunderson has moved his family to Beloit and will make that city his home. His household goods were moved on Wednesday afternoon.

HOME COMFORTS FOR LUMBERMEN IN FORD CAMPS

Iron Mountain Mich.—The comforts of home, for years denied to men engaged in lumbering operations in the Michigan north woods, have been supplied to his employees in the upper peninsula by Henry Ford.

In former years the men slept in unclean bunks, had straw for mattresses and food that often was not of the best quality. Each man was obliged to purchase his own books and magazines with which to while away the long hours after the evening meal.

Within a few years the old life largely has been done away with. The men now live in commodious buildings equipped with electric lights, bath rooms, reading rooms, good dining tables and writing desks. Each man sleeps in a clean bed equipped with a good mattress, sheets, blankets, a comforter and pillows.

WHY WILL PAPERS
PRINT SUCH STUFF?

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago—The reason there is a prevalent belief that newspapers print a great quantity of crime items is the way in which the average newspaper reader reads a newspaper. Lee A. White, editorial executive of the Detroit News, said in an address before the Medill School of Journalism. This is the way, according to Mr. White:

"Column one, disarmament conference. The reader, 'disarmament conference, um, um, Japan, um, Hughes, um, Shantung, um' Flashes.

"Column two, Sullivan case: No ume. Close attention. Occasional murmur of 'can you beat that?' One reader says he must scan the column because the case is a 'sociological document.' Another merely says it is 'hot stuff.' Both skip nary a word.

"Column three, the farmers' bloc in congress. The reader, 'um, um, well, I know what I think of farmers.' Finished.

"Column four, murder. The reader: 'Say, here's a mystery in real life. Why, it's as good as a novel.' No further sound from him for 15 minutes. Finished.

"Column five, orchestra deficit. Orchestra must be saved. The reader: 'Is that so? Well, let somebody save it then.' Finished. Mr. White said, the reader turns hurriedly to the sport page and, after having earned his rest, sleeps, his slumbers disturbed, however, by the thought of the crime the newspapers print.

The Art of Shaking Hands

Dr. Francisco X. Sauchelli, eminent physician, recently advised President Harding on the matter of scientific hand-shaking so as to avoid the pain and strain of this wholesale function of the chief executive's office.

"Clasp the right hand of the person greeted, and then place your left over his right," he wrote. "To avoid fatigue, alternate the right and left hands."

Figuratively speaking, a store is called upon to greet its customers with a warm hand-clasp every time they step within its portals. It is the desire of this store to project the sincerity of its greeting so unmistakably in the way of conscientious service that the performance shall be vastly more than a perfunctory operation.

AT THE MYERS
"The American Legion Follies of 1922," a local home talent show given by the Richard Dill's Post, American Legion, will be given at the Myers Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, started by Robert Shoenen and his company from Rockford, in addition to local talent. Sale of seats has been good and it is expected that this show will have a great success as did the Kiwanis Minstrels, given the first part of December.

The thrupus quartet, a headliner in the vaudeville circuit, will open the vaudeville week-end program a day early next week because of the Follies. The bill will start Thursday instead of Friday. This quartet, besides doing some exceptionally good singing, does character impersonations.

tions and special features that give it the reputation it has.
The picture to be seen in conjunction with the vaudeville bill is "What Do Men Want?" and is now one of the leading attractions in the city. The story is that of a small-town life and yet scenes in larger cities are shown. The picture is a real gem and will make the picture house a success. It is a Louis Weber production, and has an all-star cast.

AT THE APOLLO.
The Winninger company that makes a specialty of comedy productions and which has gained a reputation as one of the leading comedy stock companies now touring the country, will be at the Apollo theatre all next week, for matinee and evening performances. It is the Frank Winninger company, with both Frank and Adolph playing. The John D. Winninger company was here a month ago, and played to packed houses each performance.

Among the repertoire will be "Wedding Bells," which was seen here but a few weeks ago on the screen, with Constance Talmadge starring. The picture made a big hit, and no less a success is expected of the stage performance of this famous play. Other plays on the list to be seen here are "A Modern Romance," which will be the opening attraction Monday night, "Adam and Eve" and "Never Say Die." New scenery and many new players will be seen with the company.

AT THE BEVERLY.
A story that abounds with romance, action and human interest is promised in "Handcuffs or Kisses," a new romantic picture starring Elaine Hammerstein, which will play at the Beverly Sunday and Monday. The story was written by Thomas M. Low and first appeared in a current magazine. It tells of the trials, troubles, suffering and the almost hopeless fight of a young girl in a reform school. The influence of a woman whose husband had adopted this little orphan, being the main factor in her life. She is forced to live after an investigation is made into conditions in the reform school. She is a lawyer, however, finds out the true facts and the true facts of her sentence there, and has her release.

A good love story is interwoven with the plot. Although this is not a picture in which the star has much opportunity to display beautiful clothes, the few opportunities that come in are well used and the beautiful Miss Hammerstein comes up to expectations of those who have seen her before.

The picture, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, "The Night Before Christmas," an all-star cast. This is one of the latest releases and is a Goldwyn Special.

June Levidge, former star in World Pictures, concert singer and member of the "Winter" Club, is back in an important role, that of Lady Annapolis, in "Beyond the Rocks," Blinnor Glynn's story for the screen, which is now being made by Paramount, with Gloria Swanson in the stellar role.

With the addition of Miss Levidge, and also Robert Van Doren, and Rudolph Valentino playing the male lead, the cast of "Beyond the Rocks" is a fine one.

auge and, when put into a play, one of the most popular ever produced, will be made into a film starring Marion Davies. Work will begin on the new picture in a short time.

Announcement of the screening of this story by Charles Moyer will be of interest to both the lovers of history and literature, as the love story of Mary Tudor, the fascinating sister of King Henry VIII, and Charles Brandon is one of the world's greatest romances.

hair of today, but many of the characters in David Griffith's new "masquerade" (you know one never mentions anything by Mr. Griffith that it is not automatically called a masterpiece) wear just such coiffures. This picture shows Lillian Gish, one of the heroines in "Orphans of the Storm," which Griffith has adapted from the well known stage play of "The Two Orphans," wearing the monumental headpiece of sixteenth-century France. She wears it on to have her picture taken for she does not appear like this in the picture. She plays a sweet, forlorn orphan with unsophisticated curls of natural color.

Her Salary Exceeded Hubby's; He Got Jealous, She Divorce

Miss Helen Lee Worthing with pet piggy which she introduced to Broadway in place of a "Pom."

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Boston—The "most beautiful girl" has just obtained a divorce because her husband interfered with her career.
Helen Lee Worthing obtained a decree here a few days ago on the technical grounds that her husband, Charles J. McDonald, treated her cruelly.

The real trouble was his jealousy of my work and the money I made," Miss Worthing confided to a reporter later. "On his salary I could not buy the clothes and other pleasures I wanted. I saw no reason for depriving myself of the things I was capable of earning."

"So I went into the motion picture business," she said. "I doubled my money—so we separated."

Artists Choose Her
Miss Worthing, a Brookline (Mass.) girl, in a contest in 1919 was adjudged the most beautiful woman by a committee of artists and actors, including Harrison Fisher, James Montgomery Flagg, Howard Chandler Christy, Mary Pickford and Charles Chaplin.

Then came the motion picture engagement which, she says, showed hubby up in his true light.
"He used to slouch around the house and wait for me at the studio and wait for me at the studio," she said. "When I appeared at the door he grabbed me and tried to force me by violence to return with him to Boston. He offered to buy me a car if I would give up my career."

"Imagine that—when I could buy a limousine any time I chose. He never could control me, except by force and I got sick of that."

The night he put her out of their home in Boston, Miss Worthing says, she was east, and she left him "for keeps."

She came to New York immediately and landed work with the Follies next morning, to friend husband's chagrin.

"Charles, although a handsome chap himself, always resented compliments paid me. He said me repeatedly I was the homeliest girl he ever knew, and was constantly comparing my beauty with his," avers Miss Worthing.

"Don't you wish you had as much hair as I've got," he would say, when I brushed my fair locks and wished I had more.

"I shall never again marry a handsome man."

"Doesn't Fit Apartment"
There were other and lesser faults, Miss Worthing says, which detracted from her former husband. "He is six feet three—much too big for a small apartment. The present housing conditions you can't live with a man that size. I married him to get out of a convent, when I was only seventeen. It was not a love marriage on my part."

"He was generous about permitting me to live with other men. In fact, he was kind all around—except for his inordinate envy of my work."

Miss Worthing says she is anxious for a real stage career. She studies constantly in connection with a dramatic course she is taking.

Craig Elected as Member of State Holstein Board

J. A. Craig, president of the Rock County Holstein Breeders' association, was named a director in the Wisconsin Holstein-Friesian association during the annual state meeting in Madison. In the future each county is to be represented at the Wisconsin Holstein meeting in proportion to county membership. Wisconsin will have 18 delegates at the national meeting in Kansas City next June.

Harbert Schoder, West Bend, was named president; Frank Everson, Lake Mills, vice president; William Leichts, Columbus, treasurer; L. L. Oldham, Madison, secretary. The new three-year directors are Ira Pierce, Monroe; Carl Juv, Sheboygan, and H. Schroeder, Stanley Smith was elected for two years and J. A. Craig for one year.

Hog Cholera on Wane Although Bad in Rock Co.

Wisconsin had nearly 150 farms infected with hog cholera in 1921, and these were located in 23 counties. Dr. J. C. Purcell's annual report on hog cholera shows, Dr. Purcell says, that the disease has been in close touch with local veterinarians, so that the following estimates are nearly 100 per cent correct. Farmers are not so slow about reporting cholera as in times past, and this is what helps to keep it within bounds.

Rock had 26 cases; Grant 26, Dane 14, Fond du Lac had 11, and Dodge and Walworth each had 10. Others had reported cases as follows: Lafayette, 5; Milwaukee, 2; Clark, 2; St. Croix, 1; Waushara, 1; Eau Claire, 3; Vernon, 2; Kenosha, 2; Dunn and Columbia, each 1; Washington and Buffalo, each 1; Green Lake, Manitowish and Oshkosh, each 1 case. Wisconsin seems to have reduced its cholera hazards somewhat, or at least to have kept it in better control.

COUNCIL TO FIX SALARIES, MONDAY

Midnight Session Possible, Says Mayor—2 Platoon Matter Up.

With salaries of some 50 city officials and employees to be fixed, besides other business, Mayor T. E. Welsh predicted, Saturday, the possibility that Monday night's session of the common council may be the last in recent history. The latest order to come up for final discussion together with other matters of probability less importance.

"I would not be surprised to see the meeting last until after midnight," said the mayor, "although it is possible the council might dispose of the salary question in a half hour. Whether the council shall be given a 500 a month raise or the two-platoon system is one matter which must be decided. I don't know of any radical changes in salaries proposed, but you never can tell what is going to happen when the council meets."

Mayor Welsh announced that at the close of the meeting he would have the council adjourn to the following Monday night to meet with the school board on contracts for additional work at the new high school.

"The board will open bids on the afternoon of Feb. 13 and I am going to be there," he said. "In the evening they will meet with the council to act on the bids."

"It is going to be a colossal task for us to provide the additional money necessary to complete the school, but we are going to do it. It means cutting everywhere and close whittling of the corners but we must complete it. With such a project as this on our hands it is going to be better on our hands than anything else. We will be able to do anything at all in the way of public improvement, if there is any feeling at all for the taxpayers."

Case has already surprised one motorist by stopping out of his car and arresting him.

L. C. MEAD, PROPHET, PREDICTS FOR AUGUST

JUNE

Rain which is likely to start with showers on the 1st and 2nd should develop into a thunder storm by the 3rd; 4th to 7th, hot wave and thunder storms; 9th to 11th, hot wave of 100 degrees or more and severe thunder storms with very heavy and much rain between 5th and 11th. Continued warm and more rain is likely between the 15th and 18th to be followed by unseasonable cool weather to 25th with chilly north winds; 27th to 30th, rising temperature and gradual return to seasonable summer temperatures.

JULY

First to 3rd, fair and warmer; 2nd, hot; 4th, local showers and also on the 11th with seasonably warm weather for this period. A more helpful storm period to break the drought runs from the 14th to 16th, but owing to cool and moderate temperatures, the long drought may not be serious if good rains come by 15th. On 21st, hot with local rains to the north with little hope for Southern Wisconsin; 25th to 28th, local rains likely to the north and continued warm to west of July.

AUGUST

A more hopeful storm period for rain is due August 1, also the 6th, with local rains likely the 8th and 9th probably to the north. Seasonable warm weather should mostly prevail the first half of August. A hot wave is due to begin the 17th and 18th while there may be local rain for the north on the 19th. Dry weather should mostly prevail during August and up to Sept. 7th or 8th.

GARBAGE REMOVAL MUCH LESS NOW

Three Trailers Used by Contractor Maxfield—Rules Are Obeys.

A decided decrease in the amount of garbage collected in the winter as compared to the summer is evident according to Alvin Maxfield, city garbage contractor. Three instead of four trailers as in the summer, are now being used to haul the garbage. Mr. Maxfield said. Calls are made to the residence once weekly and in the business section three or four times during the week. At the present time about 1,200 places are being served. In the summer time it is estimated at 1,500 and 2,000. The decrease is due to people burning the garbage in the furnaces and stoves and that less perishable matter is spoiled.

"The people are very good in living up to the rules laid down by the board of health," said Mr. Maxfield. "The only thing is that there is a little too much water in the matter. This would be remedied if the people would learn to peel their potatoes and other vegetables dry and then wash them as they do in some cities. This would save us from hauling a large amount of water."

Few complaints are made in regard to garbage collection, an official of the Board of Health, said. Any complaints should be made to Dr. Leigh J. Woodworth, city sanitary inspector, under whose supervision it comes.

SEEK WOMAN IN TAYLOR MURDER

Continued from Page 1. Last few days, of the detective adds to the dramatic mystery of the dual existence of Taylor. He mentioned to at least one person, police say, that he had premonition of death.

Tells of times when Taylor, Claire Winder, motion picture actress, revealed a threat by Taylor against Sands. She told of accompanying Taylor to a hotel party where Taylor was talking of the robbery of certain jewels, which police and Taylor attributed to Sands, according to Miss Winder said, that Taylor in this connection declared: "If I ever lay my hands on Sands, I will kill him."

Miss Winder, in discussing it, said Taylor seemed very determined "to get the jewels." She said she had seen Sands in the hands of Taylor.

"Mr. Taylor made no secret of his plan to kill his wife," she said, "as he told a number of people he would kill him if he ever got his hands on him."

Miss Winder said she had known Taylor a long time, but never very well.

Thinks Woman Involved. That a woman will be involved in the murder was the theory advanced by Sheriff Treagar of Los Angeles county.

"I don't think I have been able to learn the short story," it appears to me that one woman and one man were responsible for the victim's death. The woman supplied the incentive and the man did the slaying."

Sands has become a mystery man in connection with the slaying, was reported to police as having been seen in Los Angeles on Tuesday, the day preceding the murder, and on Wednesday evening, the night of the murder.

A man whose name the police withheld is reported to have informed the detectives he conveyed information to Sands Wednesday night, in the vicinity of the scene of the crime.

Wanted for Desertion. Indications that Sands was known as Strathmore and was wanted by army authorities for desertion from military service with George D. Tanner and the police are anxious to ascertain just what Sands may know in this connection. While Taylor came into existence in 1924, when the slain man mysteriously disappeared from San Francisco, he was known as an art connoisseur under the name of William Desmond Dean Tanner, his brother is reported to have disappeared likewise, but no revelation have developed as to whether the brother is alive under a dual role.

REAL NAME TANNER. CLARENCE NEWSPAPER. Los Angeles.—The true name of the motion picture director who was known as William Desmond Taylor and who was found slain in his apartment here last night, was William Dean Tanner, according to a story in the Los Angeles Times. That statement, together with one that Taylor had been twice married, was said to have been obtained in Monterey, about 20 miles from Los Angeles, from a woman known as Mrs. Ada Deane-Tanner, who described herself as the "deserted wife" of Taylor's brother.

Mrs. Deane-Tanner said she saw Taylor only once, in six years, but during that time he had been receiving a allowance of $50 a month from him.

Mrs. Deane-Tanner has two children. She declared their father, Dennis Deane-Tanner, an interior decorator, had deserted her after she had married him. Her maiden name was Brennan, she added.

Had Been Sending Aid. She has little information concerning the life of the dead director. She asserted that he had been married, but was divorced and that his former wife lived in New York. She said she had seen him in Monterey nine years ago and six years ago appealed to the director for help, she stated, adding that ever since he had sent her a regular allowance.

CITY READY WITH APPEAL ON TAXES

Full Data Gathered for Petition to State for Reassessment.

Having gathered full information, City Attorney Roger C. Cunningham will within the next week, file papers with County Clerk Howard W. Lee calling upon the state tax commission for a redetermination of the county tax assessment for 1922. The city has four months in which to take the appeal.

The county board fixed the county's basic assessment figure at $110,000,000 with Beloit's assessment scheduled practically $4,000,000 less than Janesville. The difference in taxes for the two cities is $14,472 for Janesville and $123,038 for Beloit under the schedule adopted.

The protest by the city of Janesville, while taking in the entire county, is to be based only on the alleged variation in the assessment of industrial property in Janesville as compared to the industrial assessments in Beloit. Little or no attention will be paid to the township assessments, except as the tax commission action might desire to investigate in their hearings.

"We have no protest other than the difference on the factories," declared City Attorney Cunningham. "The three big Beloit industrial plants are assessed approximately the same as the Samson plant in Janesville and this we claim to be unjust on the face of assessment schedule."

The Rock county Farm Bureau will represent the farmers during the hearings, which will probably be held by the tax commission in Janesville this coming spring. The assessment cannot be changed for the year but should there be a revision, the differences will be adjusted on the 1923 assessment schedule.

BY HER BRIGHT COLORED SILK SCARF SHALL YE KNOW THE MODERN FLAPPER

For the benefit of those people who are interested in the modern flapper but are not always sure just which of our bobbed-haired, short-skirted females belong to the flapper class, here are a few infallible marks of identification. A brilliantly colored silk fringed scarf, a one or two-piece jersey dress, with Peter Pan collar and cuffs, and a soft, felt or dervish sports hat is the usual uniform of that most disturbing young miss. In winter she wears a fur sports coat flying open in the breeze and in the spring she wears a light colored tweed or polo coat, but always the silk scarf.

Spray ring organization will be started next week by County Agent T. T. Glasco and units joined for the purchase of the power sprayer, and naming of one farmer to do the spraying of orchards in the spring. The spraying of orchards is an important work will have to be done in order to make this application of the chemicals fully effective. Three of these meetings are on the schedule and more will be held in other townships. It is hoped to have at least 10 of the spray rings in operation this spring. The Farm Bureau is helping to finance them.

Institute at Newark. A zoology program is being arranged for the Newark farm institute, Feb. 15. Theodore MacIntosh, Madison, will speak on marketing; Arthur Collette, dairy cattle; E. H. Reid, poultry; L. H. McKay, swine. A woman from the university of domestic science department will lecture to the women. The program is being composed of farm experts on livestock, raising and cooperative marketing.

Another Loan Meeting. The new Rock County Federal Farm Loan association will hold another meeting in the near future to enable other farmers to come in under the long time credit system. The appraising of property of those seeking loans at the present time will be held next week.

The Rock County Poultry Growers' association will be promoted during the next two weeks for further county sales of eggs. The association is to list all property that the farmers have for sale. This list will be used to obtain accurate information on farm products. Rock county men have to offer.

Farm Bureau Meeting. The annual Farm Bureau meeting for Rock county will be held February 21 at the city hall, Janesville. There will be election of officers. It is understood that C. E. Culver, who has been successful as the secretary of the Rock county unit, will not seek the office again. His reason for refusing the office again is the need of more personal attention in the operation of his farm. In the event that Secretary refuses to be elected, the office again, Rock county will lose an effective Bureau executive.

Milk Meetings. With the Shoppers local meeting Friday afternoon and the Janesville townships unit meeting Monday afternoon in Janesville Rock county members of the Chicago milk pool are being lined up for proper representation at the Chicago marketing company stockholders' meeting on February 14.

R. K. Overton, a director of the milk pool, warned farmers at the Shoppers meeting that united effort was needed to stop the factional fighting and beat the milk producers' association backing the marketing company in sales of milk. Demand is to be made at the annual meeting of the Chicago association to be held on February 7 and not postponed until after the marketing company session. Considerable politics are being played and the show-down will be on the 24 in Chicago. Proxies are being turned over to the following men: C. W. Shimeall, Marcus Kellogg, H. O. Netasta, Bert E. Skinner who will vote against the Little regime. The next contract taking away spread chances is to be offered after the annual meeting.

Funk Boys Build Up Good Holstein Herd

When two young men start in 1916 with five calves and build up a good herd of Holsteins in the face of the hard bumps that farming has experienced the last year, they have considerable credit coming. George and Alfred Funk, living east of Janesville, now have 52 head of Holsteins and are improving all the time. They learned one lesson from their father, Ernest Funk, that a blooded sire is the foundation of the herd for there was always a pure blooded bull on the Funk farm when dairy cattle were raised. They made their start with the five calves bought from E. L. Benedict and now have King Jule of Rock as their senior herd sire. His two nearest dams have produced records of 31 pounds. In official test work the two boys have put better than 20 pound records on their cows and did not push them during the test period. They know the value of a sire and that the animals were worth as producers. Both of the Funk boys agree that the foundation of the herd in the future as their herd further develops. They have some fine looking individuals.

This Farm Wife Shows Profit of $4.50 Per Hen

There are many progressive men in Rock county who make the statement that a good farm wife is fully 75 per cent of successful farming—and there are instances that prove it when one looks around. The day has come when poultry is just as much a side-line for "milk money" as it is now there is more money in hens than in scrub cows and plain mother-nannies show it. Two years ago Z. G. Somers came to Rock county from Tennessee where he had raised Durocs for the pork market. He bought the John Terry farm, south east of this city. His farm shows improvement and his swine good care. But it has not been swine nor cattle that made the best financial showing on the Somers' farm.

Success With Poultry. Mrs. Somers is a mighty capable woman, self-reliant and with enough experience to know that the average consumer is willing to pay the price for quality goods. On the southern farm she started raising poultry. It was not a question of going out scattering a few buckets of grain and then looking for eggs to trade in. She made it a business.

In six years she made $1,425.25 from the poultry flock, enough to pay taxes, buy seed and go toward household expenses. In talking about her success with poultry, Mrs. Somers gets out a business ledger and looks up her accounts in black and white. It is not guess work with her. It is business of profit and loss and there is no red ink losses in the ledger.

Pay $4.50 Profit. In 1921 she had 59 blooded Barred Plymouth rock hens as the foundation. Now the strategy part of her account is that she had decided ordinary equipment with which to work, such as a small hen house, inferior incubator and none of the nice modern poultry arrangements. But she did have initiative and pluck. From the 59 hens she raised 152 chickens for the market, including 35 capons and 33 slips, sold on the Chicago market at 25 cents a pound live weight. A year ago she got 49 cents a pound. In all, the returns from those 59 chickens in 1921 amounted to $1,075.50 and she has 76 left for the coming season.

Her ledger shows that she made $4.50 off every chicken she started with last March, including feed costs and all expenses and her returns on eggs could easily be increased.

Mrs. Somers gets top-notch market prices for her stock for the reason she raises quality produce and markets it in a presentable manner. She sold her capons to the Chicago market and could have sold a carload at the same high prices.

There was a few sold in Janesville and next year it is a safe bet she will sell every one in Rock county. When she offers a few on the market, it has got to be right. She realizes that a little care and attention to dressing a capon is worth money. It is a pleasure to look at the chickens she delivers for they are clean, wrapped in oil paper and ready for the oven. They are firm, tender and of the right flavor from careful feeding. Those facts spell the difference between Association Offered Blooded Sire in Promotion Work.

Further organization of the Rock county Holstein association was effected during the meeting held in Milton Junction Friday afternoon, following the Farm Bureau session in Woodman hall. Through the efforts of the Holstein association the sire being united into a county organization for successful promotion, sales and other cooperative work. New interest has been created and added members into the county unit. Good animal will be offered with pedigree papers to any farmer desiring a start. The calf sales are being handled through Secretary John Jones, Milton Junction.

Critic Unco Development. The next Holstein association meeting will be held in Emerald Grove on Saturday. Meetings are to be held in each section of the county. "The day is here when the farmer must stand together," declared J. A. Cruise, association president. It is time we established Rock county as a livestock county on her real merit. There is room for all the breeds—but we must develop through cooperative efforts.

"Organization does not mean leaving all the work to the officers. Such a policy means failure. You cannot always be taking something out of an organization and not putting anything back in. Success is more than membership money—it is your helping that counts. If there had been a lack of organization in the business there would have been a national panic in the last year. Every farmer should become an operator in your organization."

To Tour Waukesha. A tour to Waukesha county to inspect the crack herds of this section is now being proposed by the Rock county association. Much good is obtained from such tours of inspection and in Waukesha county farmers would see definite results from effective organization.

Short talks on county organization and development work were given by Archie Reed, Jr., Henry Wieland Jr., John Jones, John L. Fisher, E. P. Cook and others.

There is to be a meeting of the Holstein association board of directors at the Samson plant next Thursday morning. The association is now seeking both grade and pure blooded Holsteins in an order filed with Secretary Jones. Farmers having surplus cattle should list their stock with him. It is proposed to obtain the stock from as many farmers as possible. The new members to the county

WISCONSIN BECAME LEADING DAIRY STATE BECAUSE OF GOOD COOPERATION.

Wisconsin is the premier dairy state. It has a grand total of 3,000,000 dairy cattle which includes 50,000 pure bred Holsteins, 20,000 pure bred Guernseys, and 3,000 blooded Jerseys. Wisconsin has more of each breed than can be found in their original homes and in addition 2,000 blooded Brown Swisses, 1,700 Ayrshires. The state now has 9,000 silos, 2,700 cheese factories, 500 creameries, 70 condensing plants and her annual dairy output is valued at $300,000,000.

Wisconsin is the home of the largest cooperative cheese marketing company in the world, the Wisconsin Cheese Producers' Federation, which will handle this year seven percent of the entire cheese production in these United States. Wisconsin succeeded in her cheese federation as dairy markets because of close cooperation.

Owe Debt to Cows. "There is not a farmer, not a manufacturer, not a banker of any other business man in the state of Wisconsin who does not owe a debt of gratitude to the dairy cow," declared A. J. Glover, in his speech Saturday in Watertown.

The speech by Mr. Glover marked the close of the celebration of Wisconsin 50 years of dairying. It was in Watertown that the Wisconsin Dairyman's association was born February 15, 1872. This organization through successful cooperation became the united force to guide and develop the dairy industry to its importance as listed.

The meeting to organize was called by W. D. Hoard, who in after years became a world famous dairy leader. The men who first met with him were Stephen Paville, W. S. Gruen, Chester Huzzar, E. T. Drusman, A. D. Paville and H. C. Drake.

Find to Develop. The men who formed the Wisconsin Dairyman's association saw the necessity for the development of some force, some institution through which the leaders might meet to discuss factors essential to the development of the dairy herd, to improve the herds and milk products and develop a world-wide market. The success in 50 years to the present status because they went after the Holstein association who joined at the Milton Junction meeting are E. L. Hull, G. A. Austin, W. Peabody, G. S. Rice, L. H. North, H. B. Paul, H. R. Reed, A. A. McGinty, Peter Gosh, Henry Yale and Ray Hull.

During the Farm Bureau session was adjourned previous to the Holstein session County Agent R. T. Glasco explained the purpose of organizing spraying rings to make orchards profitable.

to Chicago merchants from the Bays' creamery company by Peter Bays, Janesville, and two more carloads are to be shipped before March 15. This company was successful in surviving the depression which took the bottom out of the market for milk products. Since the first of the year Bays has been making cheese and found a ready market. It is estimated this company took more than 1,000,000 pounds of Rock county milk last year and now seek 10,000 pounds more a day. Chicago marketing company prices are paid.

"All the milk is going into cheese at the present time," stated Peter Bays. "Some of the cheese is to be exported to Greece and I hope to build up a steady market for the Rock county cheese."

MAKE 1922 A YEAR OF FARM PROGRESS

There will be progress, worth-while results, more profit under the Farm Bureau Plan—if we all stick together! Farm organization needs the support and work of every farmer—not a few—but everyone.

Marketing:

We can get better markets by cooperative work. Rock County can obtain more livestock sales at prices that our stock is worth. Every farmer should take as much interest in farm marketing as he does in farm production. Successful production is dependent on good marketing.

The Trouble with Farming:

Is that Farmers cannot set the price for their produce, whereas every other business has established prices that assure a profit. The farm produce buyer sets the price both ways—on what he purchases from the grower and on what he in turn sells to the same grower. Too long has the farmer "taken what he could get." This system, unfair and unbusiness like, will only be changed when farmers unite in one effective organization—The Farm Bureau.

Livestock Shipping:

The results show that farmers in the long run get the most by shipping through their livestock shipping associations. They get at least all that the market will bring and control their own stock. You can save dollars and cents on cooperative shipping—and at the same time you are making the private stock buyers "come across" to the other fellow.

County Development:

It is in your power as farmers to make Rock County First, building for better farming in the future. Cooperative work will increase your market for seeds, livestock, poultry and every article you have to sell on a basis of better products produced in a better county. Reputation means successful sales.

First Place at the New York and Chicago Shows

For the fourth consecutive year Buick has been awarded first choice of space at the National Automobile Shows. This honor is conferred each year by the automobile manufacturers who are members of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, upon the member having done the greatest volume of business during the previous year.

That Buick has retained this position year after year reflects convincingly the high regard in which Buick is held by the American public. Such regard is a logical outgrowth of Buick policy which has been rigidly maintained for twenty years—that every car which leaves the Buick factory must first, last and all the time give that thoroughly dependable and trustworthy service which will make every Buick owner a Buick enthusiast.

"Grooming" The Spark Plug

Its Porcelain Surfaces Are What Require Attention

THERE IS STILL MUCH misapprehension as to what part of a plug needs cleaning. Many motorists seem to believe that the main thing is to keep the sparking points clean and bright and they waste much time in so doing, treating them as they would contact points for low tension current. As a matter of fact, it makes not the slightest difference to the high tension "juice," which these points carry, whether they are dirty or clean, so long as no carbon particles bridge the space between them. The only important consideration concerning the points is the length of the discharge gap formed between them. So far as the passage of the spark is concerned there is only one part of a plug that must be kept clean and that is the insulating core, especially the surface of its inside end between the central stem and the shell. This must be kept free of soot, oil and other foreign matter by washing it with alcohol or gasoline applied with a thin, long bristled brush or by scraping it with a knife or specially formed scraper of thin steel. A spark-plug cleaner is marketed consisting of a short tube, into one end of which the plug is screwed, the tube containing gasoline and a set of loose steel needles. When the device is shaken, the needles and gasoline clean the core-end and other parts.

STOPPING RAIN IN COLD WEATHER

J. S. B. writes: I notice some cars being operated this winter with their fan belts removed, in order to make their engines run warmer. Is this a safe and satisfactory practice?

Answer: It is a safe enough practice especially if one has a radiator thermometer to go by, but it is not so good as is some means for adjustably shielding the radiator front, for there are times, even in the winter season, when the fan is required and putting on the fan belt is a dirty and bothersome piece of work. Even a paste-day, with mud or deep slush, the alcohol may all ball away, unless the fan is working.

CHANGING JETS IN INADJUSTABLE CARBURETOR

H. A. W. writes: The carburetor of my 1913 car has no adjustments, except one which is used to make the engine idle properly and in the instruction book it is stated that the carburetor is properly set at the factory and will require no attention except an occasional cleaning. Nevertheless the engine shows very little power, stalls easily and backfires when given the throttle. I feel sure the carburetor is to blame, but what can be done when there are no adjustments provided?

Answer: This is one of the carburetors which can be adapted to altered conditions, by changing its jets, which are to be had with various sized apertures but otherwise interchangeable. The choke tubes are sometimes interchangeable in a similar way. We advise you to drive your car to a service station of this make of carburetor and let them make such changes of parts as may now be required, on account of alterations in fuel quality or other reasons.

Service — Without Shamming

Unfortunately, in most business, so-called "service" is largely a sham. From the half-hearted whisk-brooming of the Pullman porter to the final "inspection" of the automobile tester, service seems to be more a matter of appearance than reality.

We cannot offer you that kind of Service, but we do offer the kind you'll tell your friends about. And it isn't the result of luck or coincidence. We've planned and studied to be helpful, rather than to appear helpful.

You will put up with any kind of Service in a pinch—but you are going to be a permanent customer of the man who gives you the greatest satisfaction all the time.

That's what we've based our plans on: to give you the greatest satisfaction all the time.

That's why we recommend the Philadelphia Diamond Gold Battery with Philco Retainers.

It's Guaranteed for two years.
